

Continued From Page 20

the Phuket Kart track in Kathu. Now running around in a jungle on a hot day with a talking rifle is not something I have done or even contemplated doing. So with a few friends, and dressed as lightly as possible, I journeyed to the Jungle Squad camp.

With the teams organised, we set off in the jungle to wreak a bit of carnage on one another. Despite the heat it was a great deal of fun and after an hour my Marita rifle gave up the ghost as I had lost the 10 lives allocated.

Unfortunately, this is where it all went a little wrong. As the playing field was new, the perimeters were still to be marked out. This hadn't been completed on our test day, resulting in a few of us becoming hopelessly lost in the bush. We could certainly see where we were supposed to be but didn't feel like walking out to the road with anything that remotely looked like a weapon.

Trying to trek back through the jungle, we reached an impasse, we had no choice but to take the road route.

Of all places to walk out on though, we found ourselves coming out of the jungle right at the Kathu Police box.

The sight of three seemingly heavily armed farangs walking out of a jungle sparked an immediate inevitable response. We were dragged in for questioning. It seems the powers-that-be who gave approval for the whole setup hadn't told everyone what was going on, hence their surprise when we walked out of the jungle.

The local police were very professional and could even see the funny side, after an hour or so. The game area now has warnings and the perimeter is well marked.

*****

Baan Yin Dee up on the hill overlooking Patong has re-started their Saturday Night BBQ. We journeyed up there recently to see what it was all about. GM Azuan Noordin told us that in addition to the Thai BBQ Buffet Dinner, My Way Entertainment also throw in a cabaret show. The Danish chef kept refilling our plates with mouth-watering seafood, beef, pork and satays and there were plenty of salads to choose from. The Sangria Aperitif was a nice starter. The BBQ runs every Saturday night from now until the end of March and will set you back 850 Baht ++ per person.

Above: Loy Krathong always brings out the finest Thai traditional clothing. This photo was taken at the Miss Soi Sea Pearl Contest.

*****

Although I will never understand it, most behaviour here is fairly predictable. For example, when driving you know to always look for traffic coming from side roads

Continued Page 24

PIRATE BAR

OPEN FROM MIDDAY

FULL SIZE POOL TABLE

ROOMS AVAILABLE FROM
600 BAHIT PER NIGHT
(DISCOUNTS FOR LONGER TERM STAYS)

1 MINUTE FROM THE BEACH

Soi Sea Pearl ( corner Sawadeerak Rd)
Patong Beach, Phuket 83150
Tel: 09 893 9089

