Staff seems to be the biggest problem at the moment. Many took off in the days after the wave and are still to return, so a lot of businesses are working with limited staff. Please bear this in mind if orders take a little longer than usual, they are trying their best.

Starting up a Sunday Roast takes a little time until customers know where you are and, of course, it has to be worthwhile going to. The Geo Guesthouse in Soi Sensabai, Patong is putting on an English Roast in their restaurant each Sunday. Three meats, plenty of vegetables, Yorkshire pudding and the like and priced at 250 baht until you are full. We don't think it will take too long to build up a customer base as Sheila, who is running the show has gained quite a following from such places as Sheila's, Longtail Tavern and recently Anton's.

Overheard at another establishment recently: "The thing about going out with a Katoey is that you can always talk about football in the morning."

If you want cheap phone calls out of Thailand just add 008 or 009 before the country code and the price drops to around 7 baht per minute. This is only available for about 26 countries but includes, UK, Australia, US, Canada, Hong Kong, Italy and Japan. New Zealand gets into the next set at 15 baht per minute. Dialing 007 does the same but for a couple of baht more. Validity for the service is until 31st December 2004, but when tested in late January, the rates were the same.
