When it comes to a vehicle, unless you are traveling across Thailand there is no need to own a car, pick-up, or van in my opinion. You can't get comfortably get around Pattaya in one, and when you finally get where you are going you'll have a hard time finding parking. We own a 120 cc motorbike. New, it cost us $1,000 US. It is basically good for around town, but we have traveled out as much as 50km and back in one day. There are cheaper bikes on up to large, expensive Harley Davidson motorcycles. If I were to get a bigger motorcycle it would be a Honda 200 cc Shadow. It's a good all around bike and not too big. If you must have a car, new cars start around 450,000 Baht or $11,250 US up to ???? You can always inexpensively rent a car or pick-up when necessary.
